

Loni Rose

Loni Rose has a voice that inspires the heart, fills the soul, and leaves listeners wanting more. Upon hearing her powerful voice singing thoughtful moving lyrics, you realize you have found something, and someone, special.

Loni has the voice of a power pop diva mixed with the sway and style of a country crooner. Her on-stage presence is magnetic, captivating crowds of all ages. Whether performing for an intimate gathering at a local coffee house or in front of thousands in an arena, Loni captures the audience with her engaging music.

Loni's lyrics relay the heartfelt musings of a woman who lives life to the fullest, experiencing rich relationships with friends and family, as well as the joy and heartache of romantic liaisons.

Based in Seattle, Loni's music can be heard around the world on television shows such as Providence, Roswell, Jack & Jill, Meet My Folks, and MTV's Road Rules. On stage she has opened for internationally recognized talent, including Chris Isaak, Shawn Colvin, Vertical Horizon, Five For Fighting, Nelly Furtado, and Kenny Loggins.

At the tender age of nine, Loni realized her love of singing. She wrote her first song as a high school sophomore, and at 22 released her first single, Evergreen Christmas, a Seattle holiday favorite.

In the years that followed Loni has developed a repertoire of over 100 songs. She has independently released three albums, Radio Flyer in 1993, Naked Soul in 1997 and Starlight in 2001. She is currently in the studio working on her highly anticipated new album.

Loni lives in the small mountain town of Index, Washington with her son Beau.
